TNA PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

By: Jerry Williams

Hello Members! We just returned from the American Numismatic Association 109th anniversary convention in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania The registered attendance of 20,807 set a record and gave the convention a strong underlying sense of support It was a great convention with lots of educational programs, tours, auctions, and exhibits Bowers and Merena Galleries certainly did its best to live up to the hype surrounding it and the ANA World Fair of Money during the auctions that were held Aug 9-12 The sale grossed $6,958,617.80. I enjoyed just being able to look at the rarities that were on display there. Mints from all over the world had their coinage and paper money on display The United States Mint and the Bureau of Printing and Engraving were there also with many of the coins and paper money on display. We met a lot of new people as well as visiting with old friends, or should I say long time friends, at the convention. One very attractive lady was Mrs. Glenna Goodacre, the designer of the Sacaquawea dollar

One of the most interesting exhibits was about the SS Central America, the Ship of Gold It looked like a side view of the SS Central that sunk in 1857 It was eight miles down in the ocean when it was recovered There were hundreds of the 1857-S double eagles on display as well as gold bricks and a ton of other coins The portholes were fixed for viewing the coins and other items that were recovered There was a video about the shipwreck and recovery that the history channel had made for television This was the talk of Philadelphia All the television stations had crews out to do stories on this exhibit In 1981, Tommy Thompson and Associates set out to find the United States Mail Steamship, Central America After tremendous efforts, excitement, special teamwork, and a new set of adventures on the high seas, on September 11, 1987, almost 130 years exactly from the date of her demise, the site of the Central American was located! Tommy Thompson has written a book about the experience which I purchased and got him to sign it for me.

The double-denomination mule coin was there to be auctioned off The first coin had already sold for $41,000. The second coin sold at the convention for $31,050. Due to the report that fifteen pieces had surfaced in Michigan probably lowered the price by $10,000

Barbara and I took several tours that the ANA had planned for the convention. We toured the US Mint, Franklin Mint, the Longwood Gardens and the Independence Seaport Museum at Penn's Landing Waterfront. Like I've said before, plan your vacation around the ANA convention and it will be a good one Barbara and I had planned to see more of Pennsylvania than just the Philadelphia area We had a condo in the Poconos Mountains for a week and rented a car so we were able to do lots of sight seeing. That is such beautiful country and the weather was so nice and cool. We didn't miss the 100o+ days that we had been having back home. There are so many things that you can see and do in Pennsylvania without having a convention but for a coin collector, that was just paradise to have it all

The ANA Board appointed John Wilson Vice President after the resignation of Helen Carmody-Lebo for health concerns. Helen has been an outstanding Governor and Vice President and will be missed but I'm sure John Wilson will be a good Vice President He and his wife, Nancy, have spent many years working as officers in ANA. Arthur Kagin was the winner of the highest award that ANA has, the Farran Zerbe Memorial Award. Mr Kagin is 80+ and as sharp as a tack He kept us all laughing at his acceptance speech.

On August 15, our TNA Vice President, Gary Hill, was appointed to the Advisory Committee to plan our Texas Quarter Dollar that will be out in 2004. There are fourteen other members on this committee Gary is the only one representing a Numismatic Organization. Keep up the good work, Gary.

Our next board meeting will be in Fort Worth, October 28-29 at the Holiday Inn-North. I would like to see all of the governors and Officers present Our next State Convention will be in Fort Worth on May 10,11,12, & 13, 2001. Start making your plans to attend that convention. Till next time, enjoy collecting what ever you collect.

2nd V.P. Report

By: Gary Andrews

Gary Andrews, Mike Grant & Bill Yates attended the Norman, Okla coin show hosted by Nute Mitchell from Norman Coin & Jewelry on July 15th & 16th at the Holiday Inn which is just off of I-35 in Norman Of the 50 odd tables available, 32 were filled by Texans. Sales were lukewarm but private party purchasing was very good, the best sight of the weekend was a fellow pushing a hand truck down the isle with coin notebooks piled to the top which he sold to our friend Gary Rollins, but the story got better when the collector took Mike Grant outside to see the rest of his booty He was driving a crew cab pickup with the back seat piled in boxes 2 & 3 high, full of coins from door to door. Mike did not buy them, as we could not figure out how to get it all home without renting a trailer

While we were in town we decided to take a drive over to the university to look at the campus. We now understand why people are so proud of their school, what a beautiful place to get an education.

A Few Words from the Editor

By Benny Bolin

Boy! Is it HOT!!! What a summer! I hope your hobby fires have been burning as strongly as the Texas summer heat! I have lived in Texas all my life and it seems to me that the summers just keep getting hotter all the time! Maybe all that extra weight and age, but for now we will just blame it on the weather Hopefully by the time you get this, the weather will have changed and you will be a bit cooler! Speaking of cool, was it ever in Alaska I will definitely take two weeks in Alaska and British Columbia at the end of July to staying here and sweating anytime. We had such a fabulous time, it was really hard to leave. Besides the temperatures being bearable (it actually snowed on us two days), that is just a magnificent part of the world Such breathtaking sights and scenery that can never be imagined You really have to experience it one day. The one thing that would take some getting used to is the Canadian money I am just not ready to get change back from a $5 bill in coins! Their one and two-dollar coins are really neat, especially the bi-metallic two-fer, but not having a one-dollar bill is just too much for my pea brain to take at this time! Besides, I started to look like my teenage nephew with my pants hiked DOWN due to the weight of all those coins After the trip, I am a firm believer in and supporter of the one-dollar bill! Of course, since my main collecting interest is fractional currency, I vote we go back to paper nickels, dimes, quarters and halves! Just kidding!

As we enter the fall, the hobby fire is still burning bright! The new quarters and Sacagawea dollars have a lot of people entering/re-entering the hobby The new error coins have people looking at their change and the overall positive economy have all served to renew interest in our hobby The last of the 2000 state quarters, Virginia, will be issued soon and the new 2000 silver proof sets are supposed to go on sale about the time this newsletter reaches you Overall, it is a good time for our hobby.

Sadly, at the end of July, TNA and the entire world of numismatics lost one of it's giants—Bill Johns Bill was a founder of TNA and was recently inducted into the TNA Hall of Fame Bill and his wife Chris have received many, many honors and awards and he will be sorely missed. Our thoughts and best wishes are with Chris and the Johns family.

For the past two issues of the newsletters, I have had an excess of articles to print. This excess will be exhausted with the next issue, so please work on some articles, profile a great Texas numismatist, or do the primer for me Deadlines for submissions are as follows;

November/December issue	November 6, 2000
January/February issue	January 6, 2001
March/April issue	March 7, 2001
May/June Issue	May 4, 2001

UNITED STATES COINS—A "PRIMER"

NICKEL THREE-CENT PIECES

BY: NORMA MATHER

The word Nickel to most folks connotes a 5-cent coin of the United States. Some nickel was used in the early small cents but the 3-cent piece, 1865-1889, was our first coin to contain enough nickel to give it the characteristic gray color - OUR FIRST NICKEL-unneeded, unwanted, unpopular and impractical

As early as 1837 a Dr Feuchtwanger urged congress to substitute German silver, an alloy of nickel, tin and zinc, for the heavy, dirty coppers (1-cent and ½-cent) The idea was rejected by mint director Robert Patterson because of assay problems Congress reduced the postage rate from 5-cents to 3-cents in 1851, increasing the need for small change Silver content coins were suggested, the silver 3-cent resulted Further experiments with German silver in 1856 came to naught However, 88% copper, 12% nickel small cents were authorized on Feb 21, 1857. These white cents were minted 1856 to 1864. This use of nickel proved unsatisfactory. In his annual report to Secretary of the Treasury S B Chase, Oct 1, 1863, Mint Director James Pollock wrote in part, " ..it is very obstinate in the melting pot, requiring the fiercest fire, even when in alloy with copper It commonly makes a hard mixture, very destructive to dies, and all the contiguous parts of the coining machinery . "

The Civil War brought drastic changes in the economy Congress authorized paper money in July 1861 Banks and the treasury suspended specie payment in December, which had the effect of putting a premium on all coins They disappeared from circulation, were hoarded, many were melted down or exported to Canada or South America. Private tokens, postage stamps and then official postage currency and fractional currency were used for change

The authorization of undesirable 3-cent postage currency set the stage for new nickel agitation The Congressional Globe for that date reports that H R 807 - "an act to authorize the coining of three cent pieces, and other purposes" - was reported to the House by the Committee on Coinage on the evening of March 3, 1865, the terminal date of the 38th congress The bill was whisked through both houses without debate and was signed into law H R 807 provided for a copper-nickel 3-cent piece weighing 30 grains (1.93 gms) and consisting of 75% copper and 25% nickel Diameter was 17 9mm Designed by James B Longacre the obverse shows a profile of Liberty facing left, LIBERTY on a coronet over hair swept to curls tied with ribbon back of the neck with the date centered below United States of America is around the rim The reverse has a large Roman numeral III centered in a laurel wreath. Borders are "embattled denticals"; the edge is plain. There is no mintmark as all were struck in Philadelphia.

There is only one type, with three significant varieties; the open and closed 3's in 1873 and the 7/6 in 1887 (proofs only) which resulted from retooling of the 1886 die. Numerous variations are found.

Coins frequently appear weak struck, even in proof, with the "Liberty" quite fuzzy, and an almost smooth area in the center of the bars of the III on the reverse because raised portions of the obverse and reverse designs are opposite requiring that considerable metal be forced into both sides simultaneously This resulted in the weak strikes, particularly in the early years

Another problem was wear on dies. Many were cracked Worn dates were repunched. Many coins show "clashed dies" from dies having come together with the force needed to strike a coin but with no planchet between. Later coins from these dies show "ghost" figures on the opposite side of the coin.

The new bronze 2-cent along with the small 1-cent made the 3-cent unneeded and unwanted. It was unpopular because it could be confused with the dime in size and color and it was impractical because of die wear.

Mintage dropped sharply from 11,383,000 in 1865 to 4,881,000 the second year and so on down Only proofs were struck in 1877, 1878 and 1886 for collectors Only in 1881 did the figure go over a million. The series was discontinued in 1889.

So you have in brief the lackluster tale of a lackluster coin--Our First Nickel.

THE NEW STATE QUARTERS
VIRGINIA

The Virginia quarter, the tenth coin released under the 50 State Quarters™ Program, honors our nation's oldest colony, Jamestown, VA. Jamestown turns 400 years old in 2007. The selected design features the three ships, Susan Constant, Godspeed, and Discovery. These ships brought the first English settlers to Jamestown.

On April 10, 1606, King James I of England chartered the Virginia Company to encourage colonization in the New World. The first expedition, consisting of the three ships depicted on the quarter, embarked from London on December 20, 1606. On May 12, 1607, they landed on a small island along the James River nearly 60 miles from the mouth of the Chesapeake Bay. It was here the original settlers (104 men and boys) established the first permanent English settlement called Jamestown, in honor of King James I.

The selection of the design for Virginia's new quarter began when Governor James Gilmore III selected State Treasurer Susan F. Dewey to serve as liaison to the U.S. Mint for the 50 State Quarters™ Program. Ideas were solicited from colleges, universities, museums, and state agencies. Public comment was overwhelming, with thousands of responses received.

Representatives from the Library of Virginia, the Department of Historic Resources, the Virginia Tourism Corporation and the Department of General Services assisted the State Treasurer in selecting design concepts for the Virginia quarter. The citizens of Virginia were encouraged to provide their comments. Governor Gilmore then forwarded his final design concept recommendation, the Jamestown Quadricentennial, to the Secretary of the Treasury who gave final approval.

NEXT STATE QUARTER:
2001—NEW YORK

Gary Hill appointed to Texas Quarter committee

Last Tuesday I got a call from the Governor's office congratulating me on being accepted to the Texas Quarter Dollar coin Advisory Committee. Here are the members for those who are interested. Senator John Carona, Dallas, State Rep. Bob Hunter, Abilene; John Paul Batiste, Austin, ED. TX Commission on the Arts; Lawerence Oaks, Austin, ED. TX Historical Commission; T.R. Fehrenbach, San Antonio, historian; Peter Marzio, Houston, Director, Houston Museum of Fine Arts; Gary Hill, Dallas, Texas Numismatic Association. Don Clark, Sherman, Former Director TxDOT Travel and Tourism; Dealey Herndon, Austin, former Director Capitol Restoration; Joci Straus, San Antonio, philanthropist, Paula Day, Fort Worth, civic leader, Bob Estrada, Dallas, business leader, Lionel Sosa, San Antonio, marketing executive; Bob Snead, El Paso, artist; David Weeks, Austin, media expert, amateur historian. This appears to me to be an impressive list of committee members and I am very excited to be able to be the only coin person on the committee. The first meeting was scheduled for Monday, Sept 11 and I had arranged to fly back from Newark, NJ., but then the meeting got changed till Sept 12 and I can not come back then. I have a personal meeting with the chairman of the committee next Wed for lunch in order to meet him, and answer questions about the quarter program. I will keep you posted As time gets closer this is a great opportunity to spread the hobby of coins, as there will be a lot of publicity.

THE LAST CELTIC COIN OF BRITAIN; BOUDICCA'S REVOLT 61 AD

by Brian Holland

The Celtic peoples of Britain produced coins only sporadically in the years before the Roman occupation. These often crude but highly stylistic coins display strange images of disjointed horses or fantastic animals so bizarre that they still puzzle scholars to this day In 43 AD the emperor Claudius sent his legions to conquer Britain where they remained for the next 4 centuries Some Celtic tribes resisted the Romans and were crushed Others such as the ICENI chose to live peacefully while maintaining nominal independence In 60 AD, King Prasutagus died leaving the Icenian kingdom jointly to the emperor Nero and his two daughters, hoping that their independence would thereby be preserved Big mistake The Romans who didn't recognize a woman's right of inheritance, simply disregarded Prasutagus' will and marched in. When they protested, the king's wife (Queen Boudicca) and daughters were shamelessly abused and humiliated, and many well to do Iceni noble families were displaced from their homes.

The following year Boudicca organized a revolt against the Romans in which the Trinovantes and others joined in The Roman military commander, Suetonius Paulinus, was on the far away isle of Anglesey subduing Druids when he learned of the uprising With an army (mob really) of up to 100,000, Boudicca led her enraged countrymen on a killing spree destroying the roman colonies of Colchester, London, and St Albans before facing two roman legions of up to 10,000 soldiers and cavalry Another legion had been caught by Boudicca's force in the open and nearly wiped out The Celtic warriors were confident and fierce, but disorganized and no match for the highly skilled and disciplined roman legionaries According to the roman historian Tacitus whose father-in-law was an aide to Suetonius at the final battle, as many as 80,000 Britons died in the slaughter that ensued Boudicca herself (Britain's first war hero) probably committed suicide.

Prior to the Icenian uprising the Romans were tolerant of local coinage. The coin pictured below was produced by the Iceni in 61 AD in large numbers to help finance the revolt Following its suppression, the Romans resolved to allow only roman coins to circulate and no further Celtic coinage was produced in Britain The coin has a fright mask on obverse with a typical Celtic horse on the reverse It is this small silver coin which is today associated with Boudicca's rebellion and, although not especially scarce, is particularly desirable to collectors of early British coinage

THE PAPER TRAIL

TEXAS COUNTY, CABOOL, MISSOURI AND ITS NATIONAL BANK

By Frank Clark

Texas County is the largest of Missouri's 114 counties and comprises 1,183 square miles of Ozark Highland Texas County is 125 square land miles larger than the state of Rhode Island When the county was formed in 1843 it was named for the explorer, fur trader and first Lt. Governor of Missouri, William H Ashley. But when the county was formally organized in 1845, it was renamed for the Republic of Texas

A seat of justice for the county was laid out in 1846 near the center of the county on Brushy Creek. It was named Houston to honor the first president of the Republic of Texas In the Civil War the county was ravished by guerilla warfare and the town of Houston was destroyed Houston was rebuilt and now is a center for dairy, poultry, livestock, farming and timber

Texas County is a land of rugged hills, springs and caves. In the early 1800's, William H Ashley leached saltpeter from bat guano in a cave in northeast Texas County to use in making gunpowder at his factory at Potosi. In 1818, H R Schoolcraft visited the cave and named the area Wall-Cave Valley

Now we will move on to the town of Cabool There are two theories on how Cabool got its name One theory is that an early settler of Cabool had traveled through Afghanistan and compared the land in this area of Missouri to the land around the capitol of Afghanistan, Kabul This seems like a very big stretch to me The land may be rugged and part of the Ozarks, but elevation is in the 1200 to 1700 foot range, while Kabul is in the Hindu Kush which is an extension of the Himalayas and the elevation there is 5.895 feet.

The second theory has Cabool named after a Native American leader. Cabool was his name and he was a lover as well as a warrior He lived in this area of Missouri many years ago and risked his life to save the woman he loved

The town of Cabool was laid out in 1882 on the route of the Springfield & Memphis (Frisco Railroad. Cabool is the only town in county on a railroad line The Cabool National Bank was chartered in September 1907 with charter number 8877. The building it occupied was built in 1906 with furniture and fixtures of mahogany and the floor consisted of tile The latest model safe and vault was installed and the bank took out burglar and hold up insurance. The officers and employees of the bank were bonded The bank bought Burroughs bookkeeping and posting machines. This bank was very useful to the local businessmen, farmers and ranchers of the community The bank's motto was, "Safety First

The Cabool National Bank and The Bank of Cabool merged on April 20, 1914 to form The First National Bank of Cabool with a capital stock and surplus of $60,000 and $7,000 in undivided profits. This bank was liquidated on May 5, 1921. The bank building is occupied today by the Corner Cafe and the population of Cabool Is 2000.

The Cabool National Bank issued $5 and $10 Series of 1902 Seals and $5 and $10 Series of 1902 Date Backs. The First National Bank of Cabool issued $5, $10 and $20 Series of 1902 Date Backs $10 and $20 Series of 1902 Plain Backs. The banks total issue was $188,160 and when the bank closed there was $50,000 outstanding.

Some of the officers for the bank were:

President: John H Bauch ???? – 1919, P S. Grant 1919, L M Edens 1921

Vice President: J W Wright ????, Steve Yates 1921

Cashier: T Brooks ???-1920, G Blair 1920-1921; W R Clifton 1921

Assistant Cashier: W R Clifton ????- 1921, Steve Yates 1921

The note pictured is a $5 Series of 1902 Plain Back on the First National Bank of Cabool with the signatures of T. Brooks as cashier and J W. Wright as vice president.

THE CURRENCY OF THE BANK OF MEXICO

By: Patrick J. Curran

Following the chaos of the Mexican Revolution, with Banks, States and cities issuing their own paper currency, the Federal government in Mexico City gave to the Bank of Mexico the sole authority to issue currency From 1921 till 1969, the bank contracted with the American Bank Note Company to design and engrave the currency of Mexico

This all changed in 1969, with issuing of paper money designed, engraved and printed by the Casa de Moneda of the Bank of Mexico. Between that starting date and 1985, notes in the values of 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 500, 1,000, 2,000 5,000 and 10,000 were issued While, in some years, there were minor changes like removing S A. from the title of the bank, removing watermarks, etc., the basic design remained the same

Between 1985 and 1991, as inflation ran rampant, the Bank of Mexico was forced to issue notes in higher denominations, 20,000 pesos in 1985, 50,000 in 1986 and finally 100,000 in 1988 Finally in 1991, the government decided to create a new currency "the New Peso" which would be equal to 1000 old pesos Transition notes of 10, 20, 50, and 100 pesos were issued in 1992 These notes carried the exact same designs as the existing higher value notes but with the new denomination in place of the old values Notes of less than 10,000 old pesos were replaced with coins

By the end of 1992, the Bank of Mexico completely redesigned and issued new currency in the New Peso designation. Notes of 10, 20 and 50 pesos were printed in a much smaller size while the 100, 200 and 500 peso notes retained their "American Dollar" size. The designs were so different that there could be no confusion with the older currency.

Beginning in 1996, the designation NEW was dropped from the currency but the exact designs and colors were retained The only change made since then is the dropping of the 10-peso note in favor of a coin of that denomination.

To put together a type set of the notes issued by the Bank of Mexico is not very difficult The basic notes were issued from 1969 and 1985. Even the odd color changes are not too difficult or expensive to obtain However the high value notes issued between 1985 and the transition notes of 1992 do command a high premium especially in CU condition The new peso series of 1993 was put together by many dealers and are readily available as is a set of the current issue (without the word NEW) If you are in Mexico, the manager of any branch of the Banco National de Mexico will gladly put together a CU set but you will have to find a dealer to buy the 10-peso note

If you wish to put together a type set of all the notes issued under the authority of the Bank of Mexico, the large size notes and the first small size notes (193 5-7) produced by the American Bank Note Company are hard to find and command a premium The type notes since 1937 are readily available. Even the 10,000 Peso note, which used to command a high premium, fell when the Bank of Mexico reissued their stock of such notes in 1978 because of inflationary pressures Good luck and happy collecting.

REWARDS OF MERIT

By Cheryl and Frank Clark

Rewards of Merit started in New England in the early part of the 19th century These were pieces of paper given to students to recognize superior achievement, attendance, behavior and the like. We are sure they were highly prized by their recipients The awards would have a numerical value that would represent merit points or an actual cash value. Usually they are printed forms, but occasionally a teacher would write one out in its entirety The printed ones often had spaces for the pupil's name, the teacher's name and sometimes the date

The rewards could be saved and redeemed for larger certificates worth the total value of the smaller pieces or speculation on our part lends towards the purchase of small school supplies and/or treats. Higher denominated certificates tend to be of a larger size and of a more elaborate nature.

Sunday schools also had their Rewards of Merit This type could have vignettes of biblical figures and/or bear religious inscriptions

This Rewards of Merit program began to be phased out in the early part of the 20th century It was replaced by the report card system. However, there are still pockets of the Rewards of Merit program in existence today

The first pictured Reward of Merit is issued by the "National Bank of Merit" for four shares of stock to the holder There are also three clauses, "God Offers Reward", "My Teacher Also" and "They Both Encourage Me." This is a late 19th century type. There are signature lines for the pupil and the teacher separated by a globe The teacher's name is Ella Rice, but the pupil's name is undecipherable even though the teacher wrote in both names. It is also uniface and the face has a gold or yellow tint inside the inside border. On the right-hand side are a young boy and girl reading a book and on the left-hand side is a girl holding a book with a train underneath All are pictured in period finery amongst a sea of flowers. The printer is B Stradley & Co., N Y

Now, we jump ahead into the present where the Pilot School of Tomorrow of Lewisville, Texas has a similar program. It is known as the "Honor Merits" program Again, the merits can be saved and redeemed for larger certificates worth the total value of the smaller pieces There is a school store on site and school supplies can be bought with the larger or smaller certificates in any combination The colors for the certificates are:

Small 5 – Purple,	Large 5 - Green
Small 10 - Goldenrod	Large 10 - Blue
Large 20 - Goldenrod	Large 25 - Light Blue
Large 50 - Pink	Large 100 - White

Handwritten denominated larger certificates (in this case 180 and 270) are in white also, however the paper is similar to the thickness and texture of index cards while the printed denominations paper is much thinner. The printer is unknown

From top to bottom the school is listed with "HONOR MERITS" in large letters, "...Honor to whom honor is due " Rom 13:7 is listed next and then there is a line or space for the student's name which is written in by the student or by the teacher. A circle in each corner surrounds the denomination This all takes place within an inner border.

One interesting certificate is the "5" that has been raised to a "50" with the addition of a "0" with a pencil This is not a forgery, but an "emergency" issue created when 50 certificates were not available for a period of time.

It is interesting that in this case, the teaching aids are 100 years apart, but convey the same basic principles.

The Standard Reference Guide to Indian Paper Money by Kishore Jhunjhunwalla

Reviewed by Frank Clark

If you collect Indian paper money, Asian paper money, British Commonwealth issues, etc or just want to add an impressive book to your library, this is the book for you The cost is $75 and this includes postage by airmail and can be ordered from Currencies & Coins, 53, The Arcade, World Trade Centre, Cuffe Parade, Bombay 400 005 India

This very handsome tome is written in English and is very user friendly along with being a storehouse of information on this fascinating subject The book is 455 pages with extra pages at the end designed for readers' notes The cover, binding, end boards, paper and frontispiece are superb. There is also a ribbon marker and the top and side pages edges are color-coded for easy reference when switching back and forth between chapters or notes. This is the first book of its kind that tackles the entire scope of Indian paper money

All notes are pictured in their actual colors except for a handful that are pictured in black and white Both sides are displayed unless the note is uniface I found very innovative a reproduction scale of from 30 percent to 130 percent that had been added to each page. This enables the reader to tell at a glance at what percentage a note had been enlarged or shrunk.

There are also many maps and they show that India also consisted of Burma until 1935 and West and East Pakistan until 1947. The maps are at the beginning of each chapter and portray cities, regions, states, etc that will be discussed in the upcoming chapter

There are several signature tables and tables listing what languages are on the notes Security features of modern Indian bank notes are diagrammed and terminology used on Indian bank notes is also diagrammed. A listing of the monetary systems employed in India throughout history is also listed

Notes are arranged chronologically in ascending order of denomination There are no values listed in the book. However, a separate price guide based on this catalog will be issued on a regular basis in the future. A CD version of this book is being prepared.

Specialized issues are also covered including Indian notes used in Burma, Pakistan, United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Bahrain, Kuwait, Muscat and Oman. Haj Pilgrim issues for travel to Mecca are listed along with notes and card coupons of the Princely States, Indo-Portuguese Territory notes, Indo-French Territory notes, prisoner-of-war coupons for the Boer War, World War I and World War II, the non-note issue of the Indian National Army which fought along side the Japanese during World War II and finally private note and coupon issues for World Wars I and II. As you can see, India has a varied and interesting currency history and I recommend this book highly

IN MEMORIAM

WILLIAM HAROLD (BILL) JOHNS

January 16, 1927-July 31, 2000

Bill was born on January 16, 1927 in Houston. He began collecting coins as a boy, while working his paper route. When he was 17, he joined the US Navy and was stationed on Ford Island in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. After he was discharged in 1947, he married Chris and began buying and selling coins as a means for additional funds to enlarge his collection. A printer by trade, he soon found he like buying and selling coins better, so he began advertising and issuing periodic price lists in 1952. Bill was a dealer for 49 years and he and Chris founded Universal Numismatic Company where he worked until his health failed.

Bill and Chris have been active participants and founder of many, many numismatic organizations. In September 1955, Bill was founding member #8 of the Greater Houston Coin Club. He subsequently served the GHCC as President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Board Member and coordinator of several of the early "Money Shows." In 1956, Bill joined the ANA and was member #27049. In 1964, he served as Assistant Bourse Chairman for the ANA convention in Houston. In 1978, Chris was selected as the Chairman of the ANA convention, Bill was right there to assist with answering phones, doing mailings and anything else he could. In 1960, Bill was founding member #8 of the TNA. Bill and Chris both served the TNA faithfully many years in various capacities.

Bill received many awards over the years, including the Numismatic Ambassador Award from Krause Publications, which he shared with Chris in 1999, and induction into the TNA Hall of Fame in 2000.

Bill's family held a celebration of his life in Houston on August 7, 2000.
